

Rolling Knights MC – Saturday Night Steak Fry

Ummmm - My steak was delicious. Well seasoned, cooked to perfection and tender. Add on DonDiva's Fantastic Red Beans n' Rice - and heaven couldn't have gotten any closer. That meal was GREAT! Spending the evening talking & laughing with DonDiva....PRICELE$$!

Jon Graves hit me up on Facebook and invited me to come over to the Rolling Knights MC Club House for their weekly Steak Fry. He wanted to talk about advertising for his new business. Anybody who knows me knows I couldn't pass up that deal. So I went.

On this evening, Jan 5, I went incognito – sans my reporter's badge. However, being a seasoned AZ Rider reporter and standing 6'2, this Big Beautiful Viking Woman can't go anywhere in the motorcycle world – incognito! It was heartwarming to be so well received. A bonus to this outing was meeting DonDiva, Secretary of the Rolling Knights MC. She and I are friends on facebook ~ it was our first time meeting in person.

Jon (better known as GG, a prospect for the Rolling Knights MC) met me at the Club House entrance. Like a good host & prospect, he introduced me to Rondo, his President, Vinny – the VP, DonDiva – Secretary, and everyone else, before we sat down and talked business.

Jon graduated from MMI in 2011, and has been working as a wrench ever since. Since GG's not ready to announce his Grand Opening just yet – I promised I wouldn't share all the exciting details. I can say that soon GG's going to open his own shop! When he does – He'll advertise it with AZ Rider – Cuz we're the best BANG for your Ad $$.

After talking with GG, I went into the bar area to chat with DonDiva. You couldn't tell it was our first time meeting – by the way we carried on all night. DonDiva's good people; she's an old soul, a very strong woman, witty, and caring. I think God put DonDiva in my life to move me out of the rut I mired myself in during 2012. OMG – It felt great to laugh, chew word wit, dance, and laugh some more.

The crowd was small, maybe 20 people in the bar area – very personable. At some point in the evening, DonDiva leaned over and asked did she need to introduce me to anyone - did I know these guys? “No intro's are needed. Let's let the presidents be. They know I'm here, but tonight we're all incognito!” I really laughed, then. It's good to be back. I was totally in my element - sitting near the presidents of several MCs and their Ladies and loving every minute of it.

PS: Look for me, Lady Jewells, at upcoming events. Post your events to our calendar and send my editor an invite = Re: Send us Lady Jewells.
